

The three default Elements Meaning Tables—Locations, Characters, and Objects—are repeated on the following pages to keep the Elements Meaning Tables all in one place for easy reference. You can also find a collection of all the Meaning Tables, including Actions and Descriptions, grouped together at the back of this book.

ADVENTURE TONE & PLOT TWISTS

If you're constructing an adventure in advance and want some help from Mythic you can use the Adventure Tone Elements Table to guide you.

You're constructing a fantasy adventure and want to determine the overall tone. A few rolls on the Adventure Tone Elements Table give us "Bizarre" and "Reassuring". You may interpret this to mean that this is a high-magic adventure world with lots of fantastical creatures and spell-craft as a part of everyday life. Despite these extraordinary elements, the adventure world is a stable one for your Character who fits right in with all the strangeness.

The Plot Twists Elements Table can be used to modify your results from the Adventure Tone Table or as your Meaning Table for a Random Event that you think will change the course of your narrative.

ALIEN SPECIES DESCRIPTORS

This is meant for sci-fi adventures that feature aliens on distant worlds. The table is biased toward intelligent species, the kind found in a functioning civilization.

ANIMAL ACTIONS

This table focuses on actions a wild animal might take. This is useful for describing the behavior of animals or any other creature that's feral, out of its mind, or extremely confused.
